

VOCABULARY GAME At the station

Relie chaque objet à son illustration.

passenger

platform

luggage

departure board

track

train station

train

return ticket

Contact entre les langues

Contrairement au mot bagage en français, en anglais, le mot luggage est indénombrable.
I have got some luggage in my car.
That passenger hasn't got any luggage.
Have you got any luggage?

GRAMMAR Be ou have got ?

Paul décrit sa cousine qui habite en Écosse. Pour chaque phrase, choisis le verbe qui convient.
 Attention, il peut y avoir des différences avec le français !

My cousin lives in a village in Scotland.

She is / has got 14 years old.

She is / has got funny because she is / has got a Scottish accent!

My uncle and aunt are / have got a small farm in the country, near Glasgow.

They are / have got horses and sheep on the farm.

I live in a small flat and I am not / haven't got a pet.

My cousin is / has got lucky!

VOCABULARY GAME At the station

Relie chaque objet à son illustration.

passenger

platform

luggage

departure board

track

train station

train

return ticket

Contact entre les langues

Contrairement au mot bagage en français, en anglais, le mot luggage est indénombrable.
I have got some luggage in my car.
That passenger hasn't got any luggage.
Have you got any luggage?

GRAMMAR Be ou have got ?

Paul décrit sa cousine qui habite en Écosse. Pour chaque phrase, choisis le verbe qui convient.
 Attention, il peut y avoir des différences avec le français !

My cousin lives in a village in Scotland.

She is / has got 14 years old.

She is / has got funny because she is / has got a Scottish accent!

My uncle and aunt are / have got a small farm in the country, near Glasgow.

They are / have got horses and sheep on the farm.

I live in a small flat and I am not / haven't got a pet.

My cousin is / has got lucky!